A new department has been established at the Ministry of State for Antiquities, which will handle concerns and complaints of the Ministry's employees. The new department will be directed by archaeologist Magdi El-Ghandour, the director of the Archaeological Documentation Center.

Dr. Zahi Hawass, Minister of State for Antiquities, said that the administration will consider all complaints and suggestions to improve the Ministry, and will make every effort to respond to each concern within one week.

Dr. Hawass appointed legal consultant Mohamed Ramadan as Director General of the Minister's Office for Legal Affairs, in order to re-establish the Minister's office and its departments with regard to the recent instructions.
